HIS SHARE OF THE MELON—Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson, left, inspects a crate of cantaloupes given to him by Colorado Gov. Dan Thornton as the Democratic presidential nominee arrives in Denver. Stevenson, speaking in Denver, told his audience that corruption in government is equal to treason and that he will promptly punish any dishonest government worker.

Not Time For Change, Adlai Says In West

Nominee Promises
All-Out War Against Corrupt Government

DENVER (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson stormed through the West today heaping coals of ridicule on the Republicans for "ill-fitting self-righteousness," and pledging himself to an all-out war against corruption in government.

The Democratic presidential candidate hurled cutting words at the GOP on three major campaign issues.

In Denver last night, he talked about "crooks in government," and kidded the Republicans for their slogan, "It's time for a change."

He was due in Kassel, Minn., before noon today to state his position on a farm program. His aides said that in this speech, as well, he would carry the fight to the Republicans, pointing the differences between their farm program and the Democrats'.

To Fly To Cheyenne

From there, following a gruelling schedule, he planned to fly to Cheyenne, Wyo., for a night speech, and then go on to Billings, Mont., to spend the night.

Stevenson was a different man in Denver.

Up to this point in the campaign, he has devoted his speeches largely to definitions of his views on the main issues, hence, the "foundation speeches" about which his lieutenants have been talking.

He has taken little, if any, notice of the Republican charges against the Democrats, nor of the direct attacks on his own record in government.

Showed Genuine Feeling

But in Denver, the governor let fly with some sharp-pointed shafts at his opposition. And, although he spoke quietly and with restraint, he showed genuine feeling when he replied to some of the attacks on himself.

On the corruption issue, Stevenson said:

"They (the Republicans) go on to say that I am indebted to some, that I would have no freedom, and that I could do nothing if I found dishonesty."

"Corruption in public office is treason to Democrats as well as Republicans."

"Any crooks I can find in the government will be exposed and punished as ruthlessly as I've done in Illinois, to Republicans and Democrats alike. And I think I know more about catching them than my opponent."

"I followed eight years of magnificent Republican rascality in Illinois. What's more, I used an axe for misconduct, and I've used it on my own party men without fear or favor or hesitation."

Stevenson then hit directly at Eisenhower. Heretofore, he has refrained from uttering any very personal remarks about his opponent. But he said he "resents" assertions against him, in connection with the corruption issue.

"I had not expected that from the general, and I will not repay him in kind," he told the audience, but I would thank him to read more carefully what I don't believe he would write himself."

The inference was that the accusations against Stevenson had been put into Eisenhower's mouth by Republicans.

Price Cope Fatally Hurt In City Traffic Mishap

Tice Plans Appeal Of Court Decision On Trailer Court

Judge Joel H. Sharp's ruling on the trailer court case will be appealed until "there is a fair and just decision rendered," Irvin D. Tice, operator of the trailer court at 1311 S. Lincoln Ave., said today in a prepared statement to the News.

Judge Sharp, in an opinion handed down Wednesday, found that Mr. Tice violated the city's business regulation ordinances and denied his prayer for an injunction against prosecution under the said ordinances.

Judge Sharp further upheld that the ordinances in question were constitutional and not discriminatory nor an unauthorized delegation of legislative powers.

In reply, Mr. Tice charged city officials with discrimination in applying the ordinances, as his case was the only prosecution in the four year life of the ordinances.

Similar Prosecution "Quashed"
He said that a similar prosecution against City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff Sr. was "quashed" by Mayor Harry M. Vincent. Mr. Tice stated that city officials were completely indifferent to a machine shop operated adjacent to his court by Mr. Barkhoff.

The trailer court operator also said that his attorneys will work for a repeal of the ordinance by Council as it prohibits new business growth in Salem and, in his case might cause the eviction of 23 families.

He stated that their eviction and the ensuing loss to Salem of their skills and income are reason enough for the repeal of the "outdated ordinance."

Termed "Borrowed" Ordinance
Mr. Tice stated that Salem "borrowed" the ordinance from Lisbon, that is was never upheld by the higher courts, and that Lisbon repealed the ordinance when it was found to be inadequate.

He asserted that it is time "Council admits it is riding a stolen horse and either fairly zone the city or follow Lisbon and repeal the ordinance."

Mr. Tice said he will continue to fight and maintain his court and housing facilities in their present location until the ordinance is declared invalid by Council or the higher courts.

City Solicitor Walter J. Hunston said today that the case against City Engineer Barkhoff had not been "quashed." The hearing on the case was postponed pending the Common Pleas Court ruling on the validity of the city's business regulation ordinances and the status of his case is the same as that of the cases pending against Mr. Tice.

The affidavit against Mr. Barkhoff is on file and the hearing will proceed as planned, he said.

Ike Calls For 100% Parity On Farmers' Income

GOP Candidate Says
Wider Range Of
Supports Needed

KASSON — DODGE CENTER, Minn., Sept. 6 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower made his bid for the important farm vote today with a plan which he said would guarantee present price supports for another two years and then would lead to higher prices for the farmer.

He called for a wider range of farm crop supports including "greater protection" for producers of perishable products such as meat, milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables.

Eisenhower said the farmers return must be boosted from the present 90 per cent of parity to a full 100 per cent—but in ways that would "minimize government control and protect farmers' independence."

The GOP presidential nominee outlined what he called a "sound, farmer-run" plan while charging that the Democratic administration had tried to make the American farmer a "political captive."

"I firmly believe that agriculture is entitled to a fair, full share of the national income," Eisenhower said, "... and a fair share is not merely 90 per cent of parity—but full parity."

Parity represents a fair return for the farmer in what he receives for his crop in relation to the things he must buy.

Eisenhower unveiled his new farm plan in a speech prepared for delivery at the national plowing contest here—only a short time before Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson as due to discuss his farm program.

Eisenhower's speech was first on the program and it was an open challenge to the Democrats for the farm vote which in 1948 was credited by some with giving President Truman his surprise victory.

The basic farm commodities now under price supports are wheat, corn, rice, cotton, tobacco and peanuts. Eisenhower said supports should be extended to such crops as oats, barley, rye and soy beans.

He said some way must be found to give greater protection to the producers of perishable products such as meat, milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables—which are not now under price supports.

Then he called for expanded farm research; strengthening of farm co-operatives; up - to - date farm roads; and, "developing rural electrification and telephone service."

Eisenhower spread his farm proposals to public view for the first time after making these moves in Chicago yesterday:

1. He indicated strongly he might possibly name a Negro to the Cabinet or "to any place" if he found one with "the qualifications needed to serve the United States well."

2. He held out an olive branch to Sen. Robert A. Taft—whom he defeated for the GOP nomination—by saying: "I'll try to draw him onto my team not only as a consultant but as a man to lead a very important section of the fight."

Navy Planes Hunt
Sub Off New Jersey
NEW YORK (AP)—Navy planes and boats were sent to Toms River, N. J., yesterday to look for a reported unidentified submarine but found no evidence of any undersea craft.

Announcing the search had been discontinued, a spokesman at Eastern Sea Headquarters here said: "Immediate steps were taken to dispatch aircraft and surface ships to the scene of the reported sighting. No evidence was obtained which would indicate that the object sighted, insofar as known here, was a submarine."

The report by the Navy was its second in three days of a submarine hunt. A Wednesday report concerned a hunt in Alaskan waters with similar results.

No details on the origin of the Toms River report were given.

Well-Known Salem Farmer Is Struck By Car On E. State

Price Cope, 76, of MC 1, Salem, died at 4:25 p.m. Friday in the Salem City Hospital where he was taken after he was struck by a car at 1:36 p.m. as he was crossing E. State St. in front of the hospital.

His death marks the city's third traffic fatality this year.

The driver of the car, Stanley Manypenny, 56, of RD 4, Salem, told police he was driving east on E. State St. and, as he approached the front of the hospital, noticed Mr. Cope starting to cross the street from the north side.

Mr. Cope continued without stopping, he said, and walked into the left side of his car. The victim sustained a fracture of the skull and other injuries.

Damage was caused to the left front door, roof post and side mirror of the car. The auto, police reported, was brought to a stop within 35 feet from the point of impact. The driver was not held by police.

In the other city fatalities, Linda Landwert, 4, died after she was struck by a car on Pershing St. near her home on April 29. Harry Lee Griffith, 11, was fatally injured when he was struck by a car Jan. 31 as he drove his bicycle out of a driveway onto N. Ellsworth Ave.

Mr. Cope was born at Rogers June 17, 1876, a son of Eliphas and Emma Stewart Cope. He lived most of his life in Salem, coming here from Rogers.

He was a past master of Salem Grange, a member of the Farm Bureau, Sons of Veterans, and I.O.O.F. He belonged to the West Side Community Club and was a solicitor for Perry Township in its Red Cross and Community Chest campaigns.

He was a member of the election board of Perry Township, program chairman of the Farmers Institute for years and past president of the institute. He had been a railroad mail clerk for 33 years and at the time of his death, was a gardener at the Salem City Hospital.

Mr. Cope was of Quaker descent. He is survived by three sons; Donald F., Frederick E. and Bruce M. of Salem, and three grandchildren. He leaves also two sisters, Mrs. Samuel Lones of Paso Robles, Calif. and Mrs. Frank Fultz of RD Salem; and two brothers, Joseph J. of Salem and Paul of Hot Spring, S.D. His wife, Mary Virginia Cope, preceded him in death two years ago.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home, with Rev. Ashley Wilson officiating. Interment will be in Hope Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Record Entries Listed For Fair
Columbiana County
Show Opens Tuesday

One of the biggest and best programs in the history of Columbiana County will be presented when the county's 107th annual fair opens Tuesday at the Lisbon fairgrounds and continues through Saturday.

On exhibit will be the finest products from gardens and homes, pedigreed and registered stock, pets, modern farm equipment and prize entries by farm girls and boys. Thousands of visitors are expected to visit the grounds to view these and other attractions.

Galen Greenstein, president of the Fair Board announced the largest list of entries in cattle, horses and ponies ever to be assembled on the grounds.

These will be coupled with well-filled entries in poultry, sheep and swine, and exhibits of the handicraft of 4-H Clubs. The Granges will display complete exhibits of everything produced on the farms and in the homes.

The exhibit facilities have been taxed to the extent that large tents and additional stalls are being erected.

Feature attractions to appear at the fair will be the famous four-team hitch of a beer company which is now touring the country and free vaudeville performances in the center ring.

Horse-pulling contests each morning, harness racing in the afternoons and livestock parades each evening also will be offered.

High school bands, which will furnish music each day throughout the afternoon and evening programs, will lead the gigantic parade each evening. A different school band will be featured each day.

The program on Friday will be varied when Youth Day will be observed. School children will be admitted free and the program will include a pony pig-iron derby, pony races and special features by 4-H Clubs.

Concessions will be set up along the midway over the weekend, and barkers will be heard long before the grand opening Wednesday morning, as many seek a preview of the fair and the raising of the tent city.

However, the grounds will assume the activity of a beehive Tuesday as exhibitors and workers swarm around placing exhibits and arranging last minute details.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Perspiration and Inspiration

Thomas A. Edison, one of the greatest geniuses the world has known, is credited with the famous statement that genius is one per cent inspiration and ninety-nine per cent perspiration. Yet, they do, but they seem to be short in inspira-

And, when I continued to discuss personal questions with these same people, I am able to confirm an idea I have had for a long time. It is simply this: Every human being has a story. And there is real greatness in every individual if he will only think right. But the difficulty is that most of us refuse to believe this. Actually we do not think we can change. We do not believe we can accomplish more than we are now accomplishing. We read and hear about other people doing marvelous things, but they don't think we can do the same thing.

NEVERTHELESS, the fact remains that people who learn to tap the sources of inspiration are able to do tremendous things. For example, I read about a woman who lived in a very small town. Her husband earned only a small salary and because they had several children they were always in need of money. Their financial situation was the cause of constant strain between them.

Trying to improve their circumstances, she looked around for ways to earn money. Everyone told her that the town was too small for her to find such an opportunity. But she emptied her mind of every fragment of defeatist thought and began to fill her mind with faith. She had been an "unrighteous" woman, which means simply that she thought "unright," that is, wrong thoughts. Now she began to think right. She became a "righteous" person, that is, right-minded, a person who practices right thinking.

In her prayers she laid her situation before God. "I have seven children," she prayed, "and I live in a small town where I can't find work. But I must have more money."

The suddenly her prayer was answered. God stimulated an idea. It occurred to her to ask the principal of the high school if he knew of any type of work she could do. "No," he said, "I can't think of anything except one little job. An insurance company in the city needs some cards typed, but they don't pay much. Some of our students who were doing this gave it up because it just wasn't enough."

"Give me the name of that company," she said. "I'll write to them."

The company sent her some cards to type. She rented a typewriter and set it up on her kitchen table. She started to work and because she had not typed for years she made mistakes. She corrected each one neatly and eventually finished the small box of cards and sent them to the insurance company. In return they sent her a larger box, and the box after that was even larger.

Finally she received a letter of commendation: "You do the best job of typing cards we've ever had done. Would you like to go into this as a business?"

She agreed, the details were worked out and they sent her a box of cards as big as a piano box. The last I heard about her was that she had sixty-five girls typing cards for her and that her activity had given her town a first class post office.

I HAVE TOLD that simple human story to prove that with inspiration there's nothing you cannot do.

"But that woman was unusual," you may protest. "I have been struggling for years and I get nowhere."

But what have you struggled with? Perhaps you have been using the wrong tools; you have probably been skeptical and cynical and unconfident. You have been thinking negative thoughts about everything, and so your result has been negative.

Through faith and prayer you can find the positiveness of inspiration. "Let the unrighteous man forsake his thoughts," says the Bible. That means change your thoughts, get rid of negative thinking. Live by faith. With that source of inspiration open to you, remarkable things happen. Everything can become different. You can find a way out of your difficulty.

TURN TO YOUR FIREPLACE

Turn your chairs from the picture window to the fireplace. Give up your outdoors view for a snug, cozy indoor arrangement around the hearth. Change over from cool, airy open effects to a study of fireside warmth.

One of the best sitting arrangements for a wall fireplace is the conventional placement of two chairs, two love seats or two sofas flanking either side, for conversational proximity. Or face a sofa to the fire, then add side chairs to complete the semi-circle. Have a hassock handy to move "near up" for short warm-ups. Long, low benches make comfortable seating for many people. A shaggy rug is the best "chair" for toddlers.

If you've added television to your room since the fire went out, you may face a new problem. If the screen picks up a reflection of the fire or a glare, you can't "switch it off" like a lamp. You'll have to do some re-arranging. Before you light the fire, you'll want to re-check your room's hospitality. Does it look like a haven from cold weather? Are rugs thick, colors warmly inviting? Are there plenty of restful, stay-a-while chairs and sofas? Are your accessories in keeping with the season? If you need fill-ins now is the time to shop for them at Arbaugh's in readiness for the mercury drop.

Pilgrim Church Calls New Pastor

Depot Rd. Church
Gets Rev. Mitchell

Rev. E. R. Mitchell of Millsboro, Wis., is the new pastor of the Salem Pilgrim Church, a mile south of the city on Depot Rd. He replaces Rev. E. T. Rotz, pastor of the church for eight years.

Rev. Rotz has accepted the pastorate of the Gratz, Pa., Evangelical Wesleyan Church.

The Pilgrim Church was formerly known as the Salem Wesleyan Church. The congregation has affiliated with the Pilgrim Holiness denomination, which has its headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind. The national organization has a membership of 40,000 divided into 900 churches scattered over the United States and sponsors missionary work in foreign lands.

The local church is included in the Pittsburgh district, of which Rev. L. W. Drury of McKeesport, Pa., is superintendent.

Rev. Mitchell, the new minister here, is known in this vicinity, having served the East Palestine pastorate before going west. In his 10 years of active ministry he also has served churches near Dayton, and in Toronto, Canada. Rev. Mitchell supervised the building of a new church at Hillsboro a few years ago.

Pilgrim Church and the seven-room parsonage beside it were built during the pastorate of Rev. Rotz. The church, which was completed a few years ago, has a seating capacity of more than 200 in the auditorium. Its basement is fitted up for Sunday School activities.

Schedule for the services is as follows: Sunday school, 9:45 a.m.; Young People's Service, 6:45 p.m.; evangelistic service, 7:45 p.m.; and prayer service at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

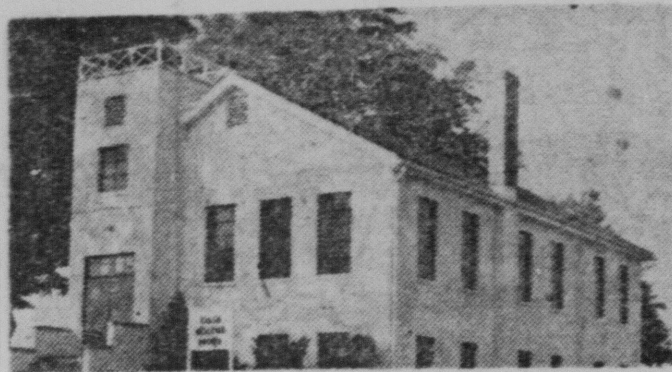

Miss Bertha Joy of New Castle, Pa., will be guest speaker at a missionary service Sunday morning. Miss Joy, a Pilgrim Holiness missionary, spent one term in Africa. She is now assisting her father at the New Castle church.

Plans have been completed for a series of revival services beginning at 8 p.m. Tuesday and continuing through Sept. 21. Rev. G. I. Norman of Clemens, S.C., will be the evangelist.

A district Sunday School institute and young people's rally is scheduled for Sept. 12 at the Salem church, with Rev. Paul F. Elliot of Indianapolis, general secretary of Sunday school work as the principal speaker. Sessions are set for 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 and 7 p.m.

CAN YOU KEEP THEM SMILING?

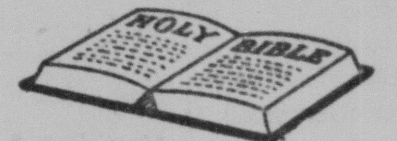

"The happiest years of their lives," you say of your teen-agers. But these youngsters you love so deeply can go on being happy through all their lives. It all depends on you.

They are like tender, growing plants. You have to give them the right kind of soil to grow in. You have to feed and water them. You have to cultivate them, keeping down the weeds—choking weeds of questionable character and evil—until they can rise above them.

You have to protect them from rigorous storms until they are strong enough to stand by themselves. And their roots must sink deep—deep into fertile soil such as that found only in the spiritual teachings of the Bible.

Give your children rich, well-balanced lives through religious as well as secular education. Go to church with them regularly, and you'll all have reason to keep smiling.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Perfection Is Never Realistic

Col. McCormick's third-party idea could have the impact of a ripe tomato or a hard stone, depending on political circumstances this year. It might damage the Republican party seriously in Illinois, where the colonel wields great political influence. That would be a stone. There is nothing original about the idea of starting a new party. Another one is being talked about in Philadelphia. But Col. McCormick's reason for getting the idea is worth a second thought by everyone who tries to understand politics. He claims it would be a more realistic arrangement than the existing one.

The saving grace of the party system in this country has been flexibility. Individuals whose opinions have hardened into irreconcilable positions are prevented from inflicting those positions on their parties.

Since the primary purpose of the parties is to win elections, positions have been modified and traded back and forth endlessly. Had it not been so, the United States would have had either one-party dictatorship or multi-party chaos.

It is this flexibility in its current manifestation that Col. McCormick, a symbol of irreconcilability at one political extreme, would like to abolish. The particular kind of third party he proposes would be composed exclusively of people who think the way he thinks. When he died, it would be composed of people who thought the way his apostles estimated he would have thought had he stayed alive.

Americans For Democratic Action, a group favored by Gov. Stevenson, is trying to interpret Franklin Roosevelt to posterity. States Rightists in the South are trying to interpret Jefferson Davis. Elsewhere in the world, people are trying to guess what Karl Marx would be saying if he were still around.

It is a dangerous form of hokum, whoever preaches it. It is, in fact, an attempt to standardize human ideas in the political realm so all the parts will be interchangeable.

Perhaps Col. McCormick would be happy in a party so perfect there would be nothing to argue about. But that would entail finding other party members who were Col. McCormicks. If the search were successful, there would be immediate and violent disagreement. Someone would get miffed and start a new party.

It's A Wonderful Feeling But—

The next time the plaintive strains of "Don't Let Them Take It Away!" come your way, remember the first $10 bill you ever saw.

It was a lot of money, if you were raised in ordinary circumstances. It would feed a small family for a week. It would cover the cost of a whinching. A $10 bill represented purchasing power.

Today it takes a $20 bill, or two $10 bills, to approximate the same amount of purchasing power. The rate at which $1 bills pass through a spender's hands is more than twice what it used to be. This gives a spender the illusion of never having had it so good, unless he stops to think about what he has.

He has half the insurance he thought he was buying. If he owned savings or bonds, he would have taken a 50 per cent loss. Even with wage increases, he has only a fraction of the buying power he once had, because the bitter fact is that wages cannot go up fast enough to offset a declining dollar. Furthermore, the faster they rise in the attempt to do this, the faster becomes the decline of the dollar.

Besides, taxes have gone up so fantastically they would have wiped out all wage increases even had there been no cheapening of dollars. "Don't let them take it away!" scream the tub-thumpers of the we-owe-it-to-ourselves school of funny-money manipulation.

Take what away?

U. S. Ballots Are Secret

The possibility that Gen Eisenhower may ask for the support of labor union members over the heads of their union executives is still in the wishful-thought stage.

But if it materializes, the time will be ripe for a complete airing of a situation in which a few men have been assuming the right to exert tremendous political influence in the name of millions of Americans they do not represent in politics. They have worked a double deal, jumping into politics from their established positions as union executives, then claiming they have the same support as politicians that they have as labor leaders.

That simply is not true. There is no single instance on record, in which a labor leader turned politician has been able to control his constituents at the polls. U. S. ballots are secret. While they stay that way, no one can tell any member of a labor union how he must vote.

This is the Achilles heel of the labor-leader politician. The first time it is wounded, irreparable damage will be done. There will be a great outcry. The myth of a closely-controlled union-labor vote will be ruined.

Gen. Eisenhower, who isn't going to get the nod from the union executives anyway, might as well win the approbation of a few million union members.

Ike's Speech

By DAVID LAWRENCE

First Piece Of Constructive Criticism

WASHINGTON General Eisenhower had made a sensational effort to restore the United States to the position of leadership it had at the close of World War II.

The remarkable speech delivered by the general at Philadelphia is the first piece of constructive criticism that has come from someone of world-wide prestige who, though conceding the importance and value of international cooperation, deplores the bungling and inconsistencies of President Truman and Secretary Acheson which have led to the conditions that brought on the Korean War and could conceivably plunge the world once more into a global conflict.

The general's words say what Congressional committees, because of their partisan nature, have not clearly said and what the American people have not been told by anyone who could speak with authority about conditions in Washington prior to the Korean War.

For the truth is that the administration spent fifty billions between 1945 and 1950 and yet was unprepared for the Korean War. Also it failed militarily to deploy its forces in such a way as to be able to make an effective effort in Korea when the war did break out. General Eisenhower, as a military man, knows what that blunder cost the American people. The significant passage in his speech covers the entire situation in a few sentences when he says:

"WHY ARE WE at war in Korea?"

"We are in that war because of failure to observe some of the principles for preventing war which I shall outline tonight."

"We are in that war because this administration grossly underestimated the actual threat."

"We are in that war because this administration allowed America, in a time when strength was needed, to become weak. Consequently it felt compelled to take its forces out of that region."

"We are in that war because, having helped set up the Korean Republic, and knowing that strength was being massed against that republic north of its borders, there was a failure to build up adequate strength in Korea's own defense forces."

"We are in that war because this administration abandoned China to the Communists."

"We are in that war because this administration announced to all the world that it had written off most of the Far East as beyond our direct concern."

This indictment can be documented from the record of what the secretary of state said and what pro-Communist advisers told the State Department to do in abandoning China. The Senate Internal Security Committee in its recent report, unanimously approved by Republicans and Democrats, tells in detail how China was abandoned.

BY TALKING up bluntly about the Korean War, the general has touched on a delicate issue in America today. The war has caused more than 110,000 casualties for America alone, and has brought a draft law that is drawing from 30,000 to 50,000 boys into the armed services every month. Along with it has come disturbed economic conditions in the country generally.

The general did not discuss the actual operation of the Korean War by our commanders, hamstrung, as they have been, by the State Department, which has not asserted itself in the councils of the United Nations with sufficient leadership to win world-wide support for the cause. He did, however, call for support of the U. N. itself and at the same time urged that, as a step toward peace, besides military preparation, America "make imaginative and practical use of every other means of preventing war." On this phase he is hitting directly at the blundering job in world propaganda done by the State Department, which has consistently refused to let this activity become a separate operation, preferring to keep it as a subordinate and insignificant bureau in a huge department run by pussyfoot policies.

The most important point that the general made was his demand for clarity and consistency in foreign policy. He rejects the Truman-Acheson foreign policy as having dragged the nation into war and as having encouraged the Communistic regime in Moscow. He says a new administration under his leadership "will move toward peace by setting before us clear and positive goals." He adds:

"MUST WE GO on with patchwork, crazy quilt operations? Must we go on with one policy for Europe, a feeble policy for South America, little policy for the Middle East, and changing policies for Asia? Must we go on writing off the Far East at one moment and at almost the next finding our sons fighting and dying in Korea? Must we at one time woo the Soviets as though they could be trusted, and then fall into hysterical fear of them?"

The demand for "clear and positive goals" is a simple but important statement of what has been lacking and what must be supplied if American leadership is to be restored in the world—if the Communist imperialists in Moscow are to have respect for the spoken words and acts of the United States.

This was more than a campaign speech that General Eisenhower made at Philadelphia—it was an address of world-wide importance which will displease Moscow but will hearten the free world.

Mecca Airlift

By TRUMAN TWILL

After 14 Military Air Transport planes had logged nearly 122,000 miles ferrying Mohammedans to Mecca from Beirut, Lebanon, a few days ago, everybody officially concerned agreed it was a master stroke of good will.

But herewith is a strong exception from one party unofficially concerned—an obscure taxpayer back home. Granted that a lot of Mohammedans were sore at my country and that this expensive and darned expensive gesture may have sweetened them up a little, what next?

Assume, for the sake of getting down to cases, that one obscure taxpayer's share in this operation consisted of one rivet in one of the planes and a whiff of aviation gas. Assume his share in all the expensive and expensive things being done to purchase good will a seller's market adds up to a handful of rivets and a cupful of gas.

This still gives the obscure footer of the bill a proprietary interest in what is going to be done with his property. There had been no discussion on the hustings and none in the hall of Congress on the advisability of helping Mohammedans make the pilgrimage to Mecca at my expense. Personally, I want to go see the Grand Canyon but can't afford it.

It is no more to be expected that Mohammedans should be helped without some kind of a mandate than that Military Air Transport should start a religious airlift in S. Dakota, where the United States government might want to cultivate good will among the Blackfeet Indians.

It is not to be expected at all, furthermore, that the Lebanese government ever will try to cultivate good will by sending over a herd of camels and camel drivers to take Americans to Sunday school. We assume here at home that getting to Sunday school and church, or going to a religious convention, is not the responsibility of any government. So do the Lebanese.

There will be other pilgrimages to Mecca and other pilgrims who will need help to get there. You can bet that if Military Air Transport doesn't perform as expected in the future, the United States will be cordially hated by all stranded Mohammedans. You can bet that if it buys any more good will with the same shenanigans, it will be cordially panned by us obscure taxpayers.

We feel like busting out of our obscurity and becoming unpleasantly prominent by hollering for our rights. A good place to begin would be to holler for the prompt dismissal of whoever it was in the Middle East that set up a Mecca airlift in the name of all the people of the United States but without their consent, either expressed or implied.

By making an example of that bird who is so generous with money that doesn't belong to him, high-flyers might be persuaded not to fritter away billions of dollars which isn't buying anything but a chance to throw some more billions in the same direction.

Forty per cent of the restaurants of the world are in the United States.

SIDE GLANCES

The Presidential Handicap

Human Rights

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

In its effort to bind nations together in a covenant of human rights, the United Nations has encountered opposition on both Soviet Russia and the United States.

What comes out of it is a mishmash of words that has little meaning. The drafting committee is now instructed to get out two covenants, each to have the force of a treaty, which in the United States Senate, it ipso facto becomes the law of the land.

From that standpoint, the United Nations is actually functioning as a legislative house of the United States, its findings to be referred to the Senate for rejection or confirmation. Each of these covenants is to become effective when 20 nations have ratified them but they are not to apply to nations which reject them or fail to ratify them.

The United States would be well advised to keep out of all this. We have our Constitution, our Bill of Rights, the constitutions of our several states, acts of Congress and of state legislatures and decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States to provide all the protection for the individual's rights that are required by a free people. The covenants of the United Nations can only deprive us of liberties we now enjoy; they can add nothing to them.

The two covenants proposed are: 1. A covenant on civil and political rights; 2. A covenant on economic, social and cultural rights. Mrs. Roosevelt, who has represented the United States in the United Nations on such matters, states:

"NEITHER of the covenants as now drafted contains any provisions which depart from the American way of life in the direction of communism, socialism, syndicalism or statism. When such provisions have been proposed, the United States has opposed them; every proposal by the Soviet Union and its satellites to write 'statism' into the covenant has been defeated. . . . In its approach to the economic and social articles, as well as the civil and political articles, the U. S. delegation has been guided by our constitution and by existing statutes and policies approved by the legislative and executive branches of the Federal government."

If this is correct, and it has been and will continue to be proved in many respects incorrect, why should the United States be involved in this at all? In the matters of the press and freedom of religion, the American Constitution and Supreme Court decisions upholding the Constitution are clearer, more succinct, more sure than anything in these covenants that has up to now been made public.

Among the freedoms that the United Nations covenant offers is "freedom to leave a country." Does that apply to those suspected of espionage? Does it apply to subversives who fear the consequences of their own conduct? For instance, it is now customary for subversive motion picture people to go abroad to do their damage to America because an indignant people and an outraged industry reject them. Shall they be free to come and go as they choose?

I INTEND to discuss, from time to time, various phases of these covenants. Here, I wish to limit to paragraph 3 of Part I which reads:

"The right of the peoples to self-determination shall also include permanent sovereignty over their natural wealth and resources. In no case may a people be deprived of its own means of subsistence on the grounds of any rights that may be claimed by other states."

What happens to contractual relations under this provision? American business firms have invested billions of dollars of the money of the American people in many parts of the world. This American money, privately owned, has gone into the development of the resources of countries like Saudi Arabia, Chile, Brazil, etc. The contracts were signed in good faith and the money has been employed in the interest of both parties to it.

Suppose such investments, having been fully developed, the machinery required manufactured and installed, the best engineering skill employed—and then, when everything is running ship-shape, the beneficiary expropriates the property on the grounds of paragraph 3 of Part I of this covenant? Actually, without a justifiable excuse, this happened to American oil properties in Mexico. Is it to happen to our investments the world over? Is not this provision a stimulation and encouragement to thievery?

Business Reports

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business heads toward its expected fall pick-up with an abundance of optimistic reports today to wave it on.

There is bad news, too, of course: Warnings of lower profits, fears of over-building industrial capacity, and the international monetary fund's report that world financial conditions are on the downgrade because some countries are trying to live beyond their incomes.

But here is today's quota of good news within the United States: Joblessness has dropped to around its lowest point since the end of World War II. The Department of Commerce predicts this condition will last at least until November.

Industrial production has rebounded quickly after its tumble in mid-summer due to the steel strike and the vacation periods.

Steel production this week will be back to 100 per cent of capacity, for the first time since the end of May. Many in the industry are now predicting that supply and demand of steel should be pretty well balanced by the first part of next year.

Americans have a record supply of money, the Federal Reserve Board reports. It puts the money supply — bank deposits plus currency — in circulation outside the banks—at 186 billion dollars, or 10 billion more than a year ago.

Demand deposits have gained five billion dollars over mid-summer of 1951. Time deposits are up four billions. And there are one billion more dollars circulating outside the banks.

There are optimistic reports in individual industries also: July and August sales of some of the big mail order houses shot up sharply over a year ago. Farm machinery sales are running ahead of 1951.

Exhibitors at the annual Leather Show here this week predict a good season for the shoe industry. Irving R. Glass, executive vice president of the Tanners Council of America, which sponsors the show, says good retail shoe business recently is assuring shoe makers of better orders for the spring lines now on display.

The hosiery industry is looking up, too.

So They Say

Communist capability for an amphibious landing (on Fromosa) does not actually exist. Destroying junks and sampans is a fairly simple matter.—Vice Adm. Robert P. Briscoe, commander of U. S. naval forces in the Far East.

The duty of spiritual leaders is never to let us forget that faith and freedom are of one coin.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The more I see of this awful mess the more I want to be president —Illinois Governor Adlai Stevenson.

I would like to see the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence hung in every school-room as constant reminders of our rich heritage.—Mrs. Oscar Ahlgren, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

I see things on TV that shock me. It's the suggestions, the movements, the little things that are hidden and not put into words.—Rep. A. L. Miller (R., Neb.).

There comes a time when a man can't do the kiss-and-hug type of movie—and I kind of reckon I've reached that stage.—Movie star Clark Gable.

A defeated nation without a true religion is beaten also in morality.—Mrs. Tamaki Uemura, Japan's foremost woman Christian leader.

At least 20 million Americans are overweight, with five million of them grossly overweight.—Dr. George M. Wheatley.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Be Careful, Adlai

Careful Adlai, your quip is showing! What are you running for, Governor, the presidency or a spot on "The Big Show with Tallulah"? The Democratic candidate is a master of the light phrase and a nimble man with a funny story. He is that rare human being, a statesman with a rippling sense of humor, and it is such a novelty that the act is going over big. But there can be a reaction. A build-up as a laugh-getter can be fatal at the polls, bub. General Eisenhower is making it clear that his objective is the White House, not a spot on a video panel, and he knows no humorist ever slept in Lincoln's bed.

The way Governor Stevenson is going, you might easily think he was under the impression he was running against Arthur Godfrey. Right now there are timid Republicans who are so alarmed by the laughs Adlai is getting that they are expressing a belief they should have nominated Bob Hope. The minute Adlai mounts a rostrum, everybody, especially the video and radio audience, gets set for a boffo. This would do him good, except for the fact an audience looking for humor is never satisfied with a few good gags. The television audience (and it will be an important factor in this election) is particularly laugh conscious and it has come to expect a million of 'em from every performer.

IF ADLAI CONTINUES with his current light and airy routine the video audience can become super-critical and walk out on him unless he goes into a dance and winds up his speeches with a ballet, a current musical hit, and an exchange of jokes with an orchestra leader and a few kind words for noodle soup and tea bags.

There are folks who are already calling him "Boffo" Stevenson and we just heard of a fellow who went up to him after a recent address and said, "You don't remember me, but I was with you on a Smith and Dale program once." And then there is the story of the voter who asked for an autograph and when he saw the signature "Adlai Stevenson" exclaimed, "Omigosh, I thought this was the Fred Allen Show."

Careful, Adlai! You can wind up getting the laughs while Ike gets the votes. You're entertaining, but don't be too entertaining. It can ruin anybody.

Today's big question: Now that the tent at Pannunjon has been replaced by a permanent structure, will the true delegates be guaranteed life occupancy?

BETTE DAVIS is going into a Broadway musical. . . . Anything to get into pictures, eh? . . . To mCostain's "The Silver Chalice" tops all the best seller lists, and it couldn't happen to a nicer feller. . . . A few years ago Tom was a script reader for Doubleday, commuting between Philadelphia and Gotham every day, and now he has had three-straight best sellers. "Seagulls over Sorrento" is announced as a coming new play. . . . Mike Todd gave us gondolas, Josh Logan gave us swimming tanks; and now seagulls! . . . "Sketch" Henderson is a video rarity, a musician with restraint. . . . Exclamation of a New York politician after the exposure of sewers laid with great sections of pipe missing: "Ya mean the pipes all were, supposed to be connected up!" . . . We hear Mr. Zorin, replacing Mr. Malik at U. N. will not change the plot, lines, routine or costumes but will say "Nyet!" even louder.

But yesterday I fished and swam From Mondays on through Sundays. Some "shorts" and sandals clothed me well. But now it's flannel undies!

A current question is what President Truman will do after he leaves the White House. How about a job as czar of ice hockey, stock car racing on roller derbies for a man with all that spunk and love of a good scrap?

Or possibly he could have his own rodeo show. "Hopalong Harry," perhaps.

The days are growing shorter and we can't imagine what kept the Democrats from trying to put controls on 'em.

CIO, Demings Eliminate Salem Tool, Bliss From Playoffs

Leetonia, Amvets Triumph Over Sears, Gil & Chuck

Two teams who ended the regular season in first place, Bliss of the Class AA League and Salem Tool of the Class A League, were eliminated from further competition for the championship of their respective leagues last night when they suffered their second straight losses.

The games, played at Kelley Park, saw CIO, fourth place team of the A loop, and Demings, third place team of the AA league, oust the two aggregations and earn the right to play for the championships of their leagues.

CIO set down the Tool nine, 10-9, with a big nine-run inning in the top of the seventh frame while Demings edged Bliss, 5-4, in the nightcap contest of the evening.

The two other games saw Leetonia even their series with Sears with a 4-1 victory and the Amvets edged Gil & Chuck, 5-3, in the first game of the playoffs for both squads.

Demings Win in Sixth

Demings opened up a 4-0 lead in the bottom of the fourth inning when Don Long stroled to the plate with the bases loaded and poked a home run between the right and center fielders, scoring the other three runners, each of whom walked ahead of him.

However, the Bliss came fighting back in the top of the fourth frame when they tallied three runs on two base hits, a walk and an error to cut the lead to one run, 4-3.

Then in the top of the fifth frame the Blissmen knotted the score with a single marker, only to lose the game in the bottom of the sixth inning when Mike Guapone tallied the winning marker after he was hit by a pitch and advanced on a fielder's choice and a single by Pitcher Dave Ehrhart which proved to be the winning blow of the contest.

Ehrhart pitched four-hit ball for the winners, allowing but four singles. Wayne Russell was on the mound for the losing Bliss nine, allowing but three hits to the Pumpers but giving up three walks in the first inning and hitting Guapone which proved to be the winning tally.

CIO Rally Ousts Toolers
Salem Tool enjoyed a 9-1 lead going into the bottom of the sixth frame but three errors, five walks and a double and single permitted the CIO to score nine big runs and grab a 10-9 triumph over the Toolers.

The Tool nine opened the contest with four runs off CIO Pitcher Bill Sheen in the first inning on two walks and two hits. The outfit then tallied another run in the fourth inning on a walk and a double.

CIO pulled through with a single run in the fifth frame on a walk and a hit but the top of the sixth inning saw the Tool team score four more runs on a pair of walks, a sacrifice and a pair of home runs by Tom Pastier and Tom Cope.

However, the CIO aggregation had their big outburst in the bottom of the inning when nine runs crossed the plate.

Bill Sheen was the standout of the game as he pitched six-hit ball and rapped out three hits in four trips to the plate. Bill Herman was on the mound and hurled six-hit ball also but loaded the bases and walked a run in before he was replaced by Leo Kline in the sixth. The latter also had control trouble and CIO scored the winning tally before the side was retired.

Sheen's triple, double and single led the CIO and Dick Peppel banged out two hits to aid the winners. Pastier had three hits in four trips and Cope had two for three for the losers, each with a home run.

Leetonia Takes Opener
Leetonia evened the series with Sears last night as they scored a 4-1 victory in the opening contest of the evening.

Having lost to the Sears nine Thursday night, Leetonia forced another game Monday with the victory. The winner then will then play a two-of-three-game series with CIO for the championship of the Class A League.

Initial runs for the both teams came in the second inning, Leetonia's marker, coming on two base hits, a fielder's choice and an error while Sears scored their tally on a walk and a base hit.

The Sears nine was held scoreless by Hank Demotta the remainder of the game but Leetonia came through with a run in the fifth inning and a pair of markers in the seventh frame.

Leetonia managed seven hits off Sears Pitcher Don Fife while Sears collected four hits off Demotta. Demotta had two hits in three trips to lead the winners while Dave Roller had two for two for Sears, making his total of six for seven trips in the two games with Leetonia.

Amvets Win Playoff Opener.
The Salem Amvets, idle with Gil & Chuck in playoff action until last night, scored a 5-3 victory over the G-C nine as they won the game in the bottom of the fourth frame.

The Vets led off the game with a two-run outburst in the first inning and G-C scored a single tally in the top of the second, making the score, 2-1.

Then the Amvets tallied another run to make it, 3-1, before Gil & Chuck came up with two runs in the top of the third to deadlock the score. However, the Amvets again took the lead and the triumph with two runs in the bottom of the fourth resulting from a walk, a base hit and an error.

John Zines allowed Bill & Chuck just five hits while his teammates collected six bingles from Donny Bell. The Amvets committed three errors during the contest while Gil & Chuck had a single miscue.

Dom Parlontieri led the Amvets with two hits in two trips to the plate and Kirby Laughlin clouted a first inning homer.

Easter's Homer Wins For Tribe

Wynn Captures 19th Victory Of Season

CLEVELAND (AP)—"I had to hit a bad pitch to do it," Luke Easter said today while discussing a blow for which he had waited three years.

The homer—with two aboard—was the first he had ever clouted off the pitching of Chicago's Billy Pierce. And the time almost made the wait worth while. It produced all the runs last night as Cleveland trimmed the White Sox, 3-0, and moved to within 2½ games of first place New York.

"The ball was so close I caught it on the handle but real solid," the Indian first baseman continued. "I hit that fella pretty good but right at somebody most of the time. He's a good pitcher, though, and tough for me like everybody else."

Easter is an expert on how tough the Sox southpaw can be. For 37 straight times—from midseason 1950 until last month—Pierce horse-collared him. Then, last month Easter got a single from Pierce and last week he hit a triple against him at Chicago.

Last night the big left-handed infielder hit his 26th four-base blow of the season.

He smacked Pierce's first throw to him in the fourth inning. The ball—taking off with a flat, low trajectory—just cleared the right field fence some 360 feet away.

It was so low that runners Bobby Avila on third and Larry Doby at first held up to see if a fielder would spear it.

The southpaw held the Tribe hitless until that fourth. Then Avila singled down the third base line. Doby let one pitch go by and belted the second into right field for another single. After that came Easter.

Early Wynn allowed the Sox just four widely-spaced hits in collecting his 19th pitching victory.

Wynn fanned five and kept making the Sox pop the ball up in the air—there were only three assists for the Tribe, grounders to shortstop George Strickland.

Bob Lemon (17-10) pitches for Cleveland today as the Indians open a three-game set against St. Louis. Tommy Byrne (6-13) goes for the Browns.

Bernie Skvarka Out For Season
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Capt. Bernie Skvarka definitely will not play football for Ohio State University this season because of a kidney ailment, it was announced Friday.

University Hospital doctors reported to Coach Woody Hayes that Skvarka's kidney condition was too serious to permit him to play this season. He had been bothered by it since his high school days.

Skvarka probably will help out as a student coach.

Dykes Scores Split Decision Over Turner

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil Turner will get a return crack at Bobby Dykes in Philadelphia next month and if the return is anything like last night's thriller, Quaker City fight fans are in for a treat.

Dykes, a 6-foot bag of bones with a sting in each hand, roared from behind at Madison Square Garden to gain a narrow, split 10-round decision over the 21-year-old Philadelphia Negro. It was a sizzler all the way and an upset. Turner was the 8 to 5 favorite.

The two welterweight contenders had signed to meet in a return within 40 days and George Katz, Turner's manager, said his beaten gladiator will be ready. Dykes said he'd be happy to oblige.

"With no television, we'll do $60,000 in Philadelphia with the return," said Katz. Turner usually packs them to the rafters in his home town.

Friday's bout was telecast nationally and the slim crowd of 4,144 paid $11,269. The scrap, on the basis of the fighters' styles, figured to be good and was even better. Both the fighters and the promoting International Boxing Club were disappointed in the gate. Each fighter received $3,600 as his share of the TV-radio receipts plus another couple of thousand each out of the gate.

Turner, in suffering the second defeat of his young career after winning 32 straight, needed two stitches to sew up a cut over his right cheekbone and one stitch for a gash over his left eye.

The decision was close as you could make it. Referee Petye Scalzo and Judge Harold Barnes each voted for Dykes, a Texan now living in Miami. Judge Jack Gordon scored for Turner, 5-4-1. The AP scorecard gave it to Dykes, 6-4.

The 23-year-old Dykes, floored in the fifth round from a series of punches and a push, was trailing on the scorecards of all three officials going into the ninth round. The handsome, dark-haired Southerner then took over the offensive from the pace-setting Turner and gave him a neat boxing lesson through the final two heats.

Just a year ago the Dodgers and Giants were in the same spot that they are in today. Both had played 130 games and had 24 to play with the Brooklyn club holding a six game lead.

Rookie Bill Connelly (3-0) and Max Lanier (7-11) or Jim Hearn (12-6) will pitch for the Giants today against Carl Erskine (11-5) and Johnny Rutherford (5-5).

Eighth inning home runs by Bob Thomas and pinch-hitter Clint Hartung off Jim Konstanty were the deciding factors in the Giants' conquest of the Phils. Hartung smacked a two strike pitch with two out and Wes Westrum aboard against the left field roof to win the game.

Wynn turned in a sparkling four-hitter in besting the White Sox' classy Billy Pierce before 20,307 fans at Cleveland. Pierce also allowed only four hits in the seven innings he toiled but he surrendered them all in the fourth inning which Easter climaxed with a three-run homer. The homer was big Luke's 26th.

Wildness on the part of Bob Kuzava and Johnny Sain ruined the Yanks at Philadelphia. Kuzava walked the first three A's he faced in the sixth inning with the score tied, 1-1. Sain took over and Billy Hitchcock beat out an infield hit to drive in the tie-breaking run. Sherry Robertson then walked to force home the winning counter. Alex Kellner scattered nine hits to bag his 11th victory and first of the season over the Yanks.

Lawrence Curtis Jackson, fast baller with the Fresno, Calif. Cardinals, became the first pitcher in organized ball to win 20 games this season. The 21-year-old farmhand did it on July 25.

Dodger's Lead Cut To 6 Games

Teams To Play Twin Bill Today

By RALPH RODEN
AP Sports Writer

They laughed in Brooklyn the other day when Leo Durocher said: "If we win it again 100,000 people will commit suicide."

Today Dodger fans are alarmed but there's been no mass exodus to the Brooklyn Bridge—yet.

The Dodgers, who blew a 13½ game lead to the Giants last year, lead their arch rivals by six games but their commanding margin could be reduced to one game by Tuesday morning. But to narrow the gap to one game the Giants have to sweep a five-game series that opens today at the Polo Grounds with a double header. The antagonists clash in a single game Sunday and close out their vital series with a day-night twin bill Monday.

Durocher's enthused Giants pulled to within six games of the jittery Dodgers yesterday, beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4, as Brooklyn suffered a 3-1 beating at the hands of the Boston Braves. In the loop's only night game, Yiner (Vinegar Bend) Mizell pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

While Giant fans were dreaming of another miracle run for the pennant, rooters in Cleveland were getting excited over the Indians' chances of ending New York's three-year reign as American League champions.

Early Wynn and Luke Easter teamed up to lead the pennant hungry Indians to a 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the circuit's only night activity. The triumph slashed the Yanks' lead to 2½ games as the Bombers dropped a 3-2 squeaker to the Philadelphia Athletics. In the only other game Washington defeated punchless Boston, 2-0, to run its winning streak to six games and extend the Red Sox' losing skein to seven.

Just a year ago the Dodgers and Giants were in the same spot that they are in today. Both had played 130 games and had 24 to play with the Brooklyn club holding a six game lead.

Rookie Bill Connelly (3-0) and Max Lanier (7-11) or Jim Hearn (12-6) will pitch for the Giants today against Carl Erskine (11-5) and Johnny Rutherford (5-5).

Eighth inning home runs by Bob Thomas and pinch-hitter Clint Hartung off Jim Konstanty were the deciding factors in the Giants' conquest of the Phils. Hartung smacked a two strike pitch with two out and Wes Westrum aboard against the left field roof to win the game.

Wynn turned in a sparkling four-hitter in besting the White Sox' classy Billy Pierce before 20,307 fans at Cleveland. Pierce also allowed only four hits in the seven innings he toiled but he surrendered them all in the fourth inning which Easter climaxed with a three-run homer. The homer was big Luke's 26th.

Wildness on the part of Bob Kuzava and Johnny Sain ruined the Yanks at Philadelphia. Kuzava walked the first three A's he faced in the sixth inning with the score tied, 1-1. Sain took over and Billy Hitchcock beat out an infield hit to drive in the tie-breaking run. Sherry Robertson then walked to force home the winning counter. Alex Kellner scattered nine hits to bag his 11th victory and first of the season over the Yanks.

Lawrence Curtis Jackson, fast baller with the Fresno, Calif. Cardinals, became the first pitcher in organized ball to win 20 games this season. The 21-year-old farmhand did it on July 25.

Mullins, Hanoverton Play Little League Game Sunday

The Little League city champions, Mullins, will terminate their 1952 season at 2:30 Sunday when they play the rubber game with the Hanoverton Little Leaguers at Centennial Park.

Having split a doubleheader with the Hanoverton nine last Sunday, the game will decide the victor between the two squads.

The Mullins outfit was slated to meet Atwater earlier this week but the Atwater Little Leaguers disbanded for the season and the contest could not be played.

A three-inning game between the two team's second string players will be played following the tilt.

Woody Stephens, trainer of Blue Man, apparent 3-year-old tuft champion, rode his first winner as a jockey at Hileah on Jan. 15, 1931 on a horse called Directly.

Thieves repeatedly broke into his car and stole his samples. "It wasn't the value of the samples themselves that bothered me," he said, "as the time I lost from selling until the samples could be replaced."

With the help of a friend he made a crude burglar alarm that would sound the horn if anyone tried to tamper with his car. It worked. He lost no more samples. Other salesmen heard of his alarm and asked him to make one for their cars.

Seide decided to make vehicle protection his career, and developed his invention. It took him five years of hard work to interest trucking companies and insurance writers in it.

Today he leases his alarm systems to firms operating more than 8,000 trucks, has 200 agencies from coast to coast, boasts that no truck protected by one of his alarms has ever been hijacked.

"But having a million dollar idea," he said wryly, "isn't nearly as hard as putting it over after you get it."

Wholesale Price Index Drops Fraction In Week
WASHINGTON (AP)—Lower prices for meat, eggs, fresh and dried vegetables, cows, hogs and live poultry caused a two-tenths of 1 per cent drop in wholesale prices during the week ended Sept. 2.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, announcing the decline yesterday, said increases were reported in cheese, coffee, flour, cotton, grains, steers and fresh fruits, but they were not enough to offset the declines.

The bureau said its index of Sept. 2 was 111.8 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Street Fair
Ends Tonight200 Blood Donors
Needed To Fill Quota

COLUMBIANA—Tonight will be the concluding night and the big night of the 66th annual Columbiana street fair and home-coming. With a second night attendance last night estimated at more than 10,000, the favorable weather should bring an immense crowd this evening.

The elaborate exhibits in the Chamber of Commerce displays in the large exhibit tent have attracted many sightseers, along with the street exhibits outside the tent. Included in the outside exhibit is one of the large North American Van Lines moving vans from its Columbiana station, of which Henry Keck is proprietor.

Special entertainment tonight will be by Dave Reese and his High Hatters "rube" band from Youngstown.

The Columbiana Garden Club is continuing its flower show in the Methodist Church from 2 to 10 p.m. today, and the Grade School Mothers' Club its benefit, which has been in progress the three days of the fair.

KILLED IN CRASH

ZANESVILLE, O. (AP)—Fred Taylor, 22, of Zanesville, was killed Friday when a car in which he was riding crashed into the rear of a truck on Ohio 77, two miles south of Zanesville.

Stevenson

ghost writers, framing his speeches.

To that line, and numerous others, Stevenson's audiences went wild with applause and excitement.

He has not stirred such enthusiasm anywhere else in this campaign. The first speech last night was at a dinner given by the Colorado Volunteers for Stevenson. Some 1100 people filled the banquet room. Two hours later a Democratic rally practically jammed Denver City Auditorium with an estimated 8,000 people.

However, Stevenson attracted fewer than 2,000 people when he landed in Denver, and proceeded in an open car to his hotel. The estimate was made by police. An official of the Volunteers for Stevenson ascribed the relatively quiet entry into the city to "lack of publicity."

In his discussion of the Republican cry "time for a change," Stevenson, for the most part, simply ridiculed the opposition. He specializes in deadpan, delayed-action wisecracks and he was in good form last night. Roars of laughter thundered through the two rooms at his sallies. Some samples:

"The Democrats are denounced for not wanting changes, and then for a subversive desire to change everything."

"I do not detect any roars of approval from the Republican Old Guard—the men who never want anything done for the first time."

"The Old Guard, who are still fighting valiantly to keep us out of the second world war."

"When both discordant elements of the Republican leadership were here, someone suddenly realized that Denver was close to the Great Divide—and it was time for a change before this unhappy symbolism became too apparent."

"I shall not argue that it is necessarily fatal to change horses in mid-stream, but I doubt if it is wise to jump on a struggling two-headed elephant trying to swim in both directions in rough water."

"There is no quarrel between us on the issue of corruption. In fact, I don't know anybody who is running on a pro-corruption ticket."

Plowing

both parties clogged the highways at all points of the compass as they converged, from many neighboring states as well as Minnesota, at the scene of what basically is the national plowing contest.

Some anxious eyes were cast skyward, hopeful against the Weather Bureau's official forecast for the area of "partly cloudy and scattered showers."

Farmers Mount Tractors

Almost incidentally, it seemed, farmers from 15 states mounted their tractors to compete for prizes in exhibition of their best knowledge of the care and tilling of the soil.

Several Civil Air Patrol planes were poised for missions to guide safely into the Dodge Center Airport scores of ships bearing flying farmers from states as far away as Texas.

Mrs. Henry Snow, on whose husband's farm a billowing tent city of farm exhibits and eating concessions has been raised, showed her first hint of worry.

"Oh my, they didn't fluff out like other times," she said of the apple pies she will serve the two candidates, along with chicken and other trimmings.

Her husband, too, was not quiet as calm as in the days of preparation. He was still wondering what to say in introducing Stevenson. Farmer Snow was tapped for the chore as somewhat of a neutral when too many Minnesota Democrats started vying for that post of honor.

Eisenhower was to be introduced by Minnesota's GOP Gov. C. Elmer Anderson.

Chief immediate worry of the contest committeemen was how to keep traffic lanes open the 17 miles east to Rochester, where both Ike and Adlai are slated to arrive by plane.

McGranery Ends
'Racket Unit'Believes Grand Juries
Can Clean Up Crime

WASHINGTON (AP)—The justice Department has dropped the plan to have special federal grand juries in all parts of the country sit once a year to survey local crime conditions.

Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery says it smacked of "showmanship" and that he believes regular grand juries that sit month-in and month-out can handle things just as well.

He has disbanded the 13-man "racket unit" which his predecessor, J. Howard McGrath, set up in the Justice Department last January to evaluate reports from the special juries and keep the program in motion.

McGranery made it clear today he does not think much of the special grand jury idea, originated by McGrath and strongly recommended by the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee.

Asserting that his faith lies with the regular juries to maintain federal law enforcement on a continuing basis, McGranery told newsmen:

"Showmanship ought not to be any part of the administration of justice. Such administration calls for dignity and certainty."

As to the "racket unit," the attorney general said:

"I don't subscribe to the name 'racket unit.' Labels won't do the trick. We have lots of units in the Criminal Division, functioning effectively, and not known by Hollywood names."

In response to an inquiry, the attorney general said his position was the same as that of Federal District Judge Ben Moore of Southern West Virginia, one of several judges who refused to respond to McGrath's call for special juries in each of the 94 judicial districts.

Judge Moore, noting the McGrath request, told a regular jury panel that he expected "constant vigilance" in his district and commented:

"A revival-meeting type of law enforcement may look well for a time, but its effect soon wears off. It is not the American way to carry on law enforcement through mass hysteria, or through newspaper propaganda, or through any kind of crusade."
